The Mission of Tuckahoe Lodge:

To make good men better is the Mission of Freemasonry. Tuckahoe Lodge will endeavor to provide the best possible instruction and learning opportunities to candidates and members alike, so that they may learn, understand and apply the tenets of Freemasonry to their daily lives.

To work toward fulfilling this mission it is our policy to endorse, and strongly encourage advancing candidates through the three degrees of Masonry by the traditional method of committing to memory the catechism of each degree. The Worshipful Master will appoint a brother, or brethren, to provide personal instruction, and encourage the candidate to take part in Masonic classes held at the Lodge. The class time will be used for personal instruction as required, floor work practice for the next meeting or other degree work, as deemed necessary.

The Officers and Brethren of this Lodge are committing their time to provide our candidates with the best possible opportunity to progress in Freemasonry. In addition, as more brethren become involved in the review of the catechisms, it is reasonable to expect that some will ultimately achieve proficiency to a level whereby they will become mentors or instructors for future candidates, or an officer in the Lodge.

All members of the Lodge must be aware that if they choose to endorse a Petition for the Degrees in Tuckahoe Lodge, it is their responsibility to inform the petitioner up front, that this is the way Tuckahoe encourages him to advance in Masonry. This policy will also be emphasized by those members who visit and interview new candidates, so that there is no question in the candidate's mind of what is expected of him.

If it is determined that the petitioner cannot or has difficulty learning the 'question and answer' process of the catechism (because of memory or other reasons) an alternative advancement method will be available upon discussion with, and approval of, the current Worshipful Master of the Lodge.
